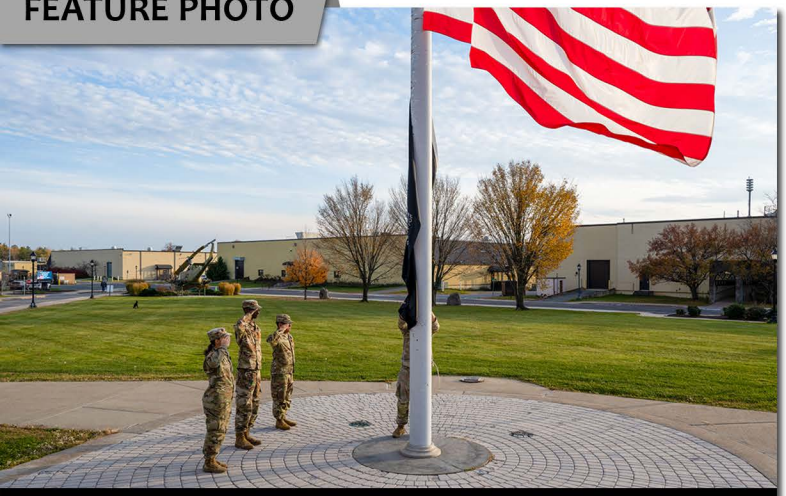
TOBYHANNA POST

FEATURE PHOTO



Soldiers from the High-Tech Regional Training Site render honors during the daily retreat ceremony. At 0600 and 1700, the entire installation stands united in respect, paying tribute to the flag and all those who serve under it.

Tobyhanna's Veteran Workforce Takes Pride in Continued Service

Team Tobyhanna joins a grateful nation in honoring the service of our nation's heroes on Veterans Day. Roughly 23% of Tobyhanna's dynamic civilian workforce are veterans continuing their oath to our nation. These three Team Tobyhanna military veterans have chosen to continue to serve their nation and their brothers and sisters in arms who protect it.

Don't Miss TYAD's 2026 Harvest Fest

Do not miss your chance to see what's cooking for TYAD's 2026 Harvest Festival! Join us Nov. 23, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., in building 1A hallway.

The festivities begin with a blessing service led by CECOM Chaplain Col. Brian Tung. Prayer requests are welcome for collection boxes in Cafe 1A, near Cafe 4, or Building 11.

Then get ready to revel in the delicious flavors of the potluck, admire the cutest pet pics and vote for your favorite, and deliver happiness with donations to help local food banks and animal shelters. Every little bit paws-itively helps! Registrations are still open until noon, Nov. 19! Sign up now!!

Sgt. Maj. Alkire speaks at local American Legion on Veterans Day

Tobyhanna Army Depot Sgt. Maj. Cory P. Alkire spent part of his Veterans Day connecting with our community. Alkire served as the keynote speaker for Wall Sebring American Legion Post 274's Veterans Day service in Gouldsboro. During his remarks, Alkire celebrated the service of the veterans gathered at the event and the meaningful bond that exists between Tobyhanna and the community it serves.

Deprimo Graduates Leadership Lackawanna

Congratulations to Paul Deprimo from the Production Engineering directorate on graduating from Leadership Lackawanna's Executive Program! The program brings together professionals to examine leadership best practices, foster collaboration across industries, and strengthen community networks.

Deprimo shared the value of expanding his perspective: "The Leadership Lackawanna Executive Program was a highly valuable professional development experience. The opportunity to engage with a diverse group of leaders from organizations across Lackawanna County broadened my understanding of varied leadership approaches and perspectives. It also reinforced the strong commitment Tobyhanna Army Depot demonstrates in cultivating leadership through its in-house continuing education and professional training programs."
