U.S. Army Materiel Command

Eye On AMC

U.S. ARMY

Wednesday, November 18, 2026

Army awards DINEX prototype

WASHINGTON — The Army is continuing to modernize the food ecosystem through different initiatives to fit the needs of the modern-day Soldier. The Army awarded an 18-month agreement Nov. 17 to Southern Foodservice Management, Inc., to advance the Army Dining Excellence Initiative, known as DINEX, with a prototype at Fort Lee, Virginia. The prototype is scheduled to start Jan. 27, 2027.

Tobyhanna advances warfighter readiness

TOBYHANNA, Pa. — From developing new manufacturing capabilities and strengthening the nation's defense industrial base to improving existing weapon systems and investing in its workforce, Tobyhanna Army Depot continued advancing its mission in 2026, reinforcing its position as a premier provider of readiness for the joint warfighter. The year began focused on engineering solutions and mission efficiency.

ARTRANS leads modernization efforts with IBS-CN

JOINT BASE LANGLEY-EUSTIS, Va. — In alignment with the U.S. Army's strategic push for continuous modernization and cloud integration, cargo booking specialists from across U.S. Army Transportation Command (ARTRANS) converged at the Fort Eustis Education Center in November 2026, to prepare for an enterprise-wide digital transition.

From start to finish, EDA manages munitions

ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL, Ill. – Munitions are vital to a successful military and the U.S. Army Sustainment Command ensures warfighters receive reliable ammunition exactly when and where they need it. Operating within a unified global logistics network, the EDA ensures Joint Forces, federal agencies, and international partners have reliable, lethal munitions available at the speed of relevance.

Veterans continue to inspire

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. – The legacy of American military service is a continuous chain, with each generation drawing inspiration from those who served before them. That was the message from Maj. Gen. Gavin Gardner, special assistant to the deputy commanding general of Army Materiel Command, when he visited the residents of the Floyd E. "Tut" Fann State Veterans Home on Veterans Day.

WWII pigeon hero honored on Capitol Hill

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. — More than 80 years after braving enemy fire in the jungles of the South Pacific, a USASCs homing pigeon named Blackie Halligan received national recognition on Capitol Hill. The ceremony took place during the 6th Animals in War & Peace Medal Ceremony at the Rayburn House Office Building Nov. 12, 2026,

Focus on the Force

ACC-RSA celebrates LDRP program graduates

ACC-RSA Green Platoon graduation honors 33

Tobyhanna's veteran workforce takes pride in continued service

ARTRANS, joint partners align strategic logistics for SWORD 27

News Around the Army

$190 million quality-of-life investment at Camp Humphreys

JBLM Warrior Zone reopens with new full-service kitchen

Fort Wainwright partnership expands no-cost barracks Wi-Fi

Fort Buchanan helps veteran find new mission