Rent Plus replaces housing allowance

by Sgt Corrina Martell

Rent Plus, a new housing allowance system, will be implemented in Hawaii Monday. The system will replace the present off-station housing allowance system.

Under the Rent Plus system, members will be reimbursed for the actual cost of lodging, up to a ceiling, plus provide utility and initial occupancy allowances.

According to Major Priscilla Stewart, disbursing officer, the ceiling figure is a set amount established through a Department of Defense survey which computed, per pay grade, the amount of expenses incurred in all overseas commands.

IN DETERMINING A Rent Plus figure, certain guidelines established by the DoD are followed. The rent figure computed cannot exceed the ceiling figure. If it does, the ceiling figure is used.

Beginning with this rent or ceiling figure, $115 utility allowance is added, which is the same for everyone, regardless of rank or dependents. An additional $5 is also added as an initial occupancy expense.

These figures added together give the total allowance from which the amount of BAQ a person is receiving is subtracted. The remaining figure is the Rent Plus, which will be used in place of OSHA.

For example, a sergeant over four years who is married to a civilian has a ceiling rate of $545. If his rent is $600, the ceiling figure will be used to compute his Rent

Plus. The utility allowance of $115 and initial occupancy expense of $5 is then added to the ceiling figure, giving a total of $665. The sergeant's BAQ rate of $267.90 is subtracted from the total. The remaining figure of $397.10 will be his Rent Plus figure. Since his OSHA figure is $282, this gives him $115.10 more on the Rent Plus system.

A person does not forfeit his BAQ under the Rent Plus system. The BAQ figure is merely used in computing the amount.

Homeowners are also included under the Rent Plus system. A homeowner's monthly mortgage will be established by dividing the cost of the member's home by 120. This will give a figure used as the monthly rent. Either this figure or the ceiling, whichever is less, will be used to compute the Rent Plus housing allowance.

FOR EXAMPLE, A MASTER sergeant, married and with dependents, may be buying a home worth $72,000. This price, divided by 120, gives a figure of $600 as rent. Since his ceiling is $645, the master sergeant's rent figure will be used to compute his Rent Plus. Utility allowance of $115 and initial occupancy expense of $5 is added to $600, giving a total of $720. Subtract his BAQ of $340.50, and his Rent Plus figure is $379.50. Since his OSHA is $357, he also benefits by using Rent Plus.

Rent for members who share quarters with other members will be the actual portion of the rent paid.

For families where both spouses are military members, each member's rent will be one half of the total rent. This amount will be compared to each member's ceiling with the lesser amount used. The utility allowance will also be divided when members share quarters.

Single members will receive only 75 percent of the utility allowance, since they normally use less electricity and water than members with dependents.

Members under Rent Plus will receive the full initial occupancy allowance, regardless of their marital status or if they are sharing quarters with another member.

Members already living off station when Rent Plus becomes effective will have the option of retaining their OSHA or going on Rent Plus. However, by June 1986, all members of overseas commands living off station will use Rent Plus.

Personnel moving off station after June 1 will automatically be on the new system.

EACH MEMBER WHO ELECTS to go to Rent Plus must see his unit representative with a written lease or purchase agreement and fill out a worksheet, which will be submitted to the disbursing office.

Stewart explained that depending on factors such as marital status or rank, Rent Plus could cause either an increase or decrease in pay.

In some examples, single members living alone, or military spouses, usually benefited by retaining OSHA. However, in other examples, a military member married to a civilian and supporting dependents benefited from Rent Plus.

A single captain living alone has a ceiling of $750. If he has a rent of $400, that is the lesser figure that will be used. As a single member, he receives half the utility allowance, which is $86.25. This amount added to $400, plus the $5 initial occupancy expenses, gives a total allowance of $491.25. Subtracting his BAQ amount of $316.80 gives him a Rent Plus amount of $174.45. Since his OSHA figure is $253.50, going on the Rent Plus system results in a decrease in pay.

Stewart explained that each member's case is taken individually under the Rent Plus system. What may be true for one case, may not apply to another. Therefore, it is beneficial for each member to find out how it will affect his or her pay.

"Rent Plus is a little closer to meeting the actual expenses incurred than the old system," concluded Stewart.

Restrictions placed on bonuses

Reenlistment funds run short

HQMC — Funds for this fiscal year's Selective Reenlistment Bonus Program are running out at an increasingly rapid rate, so further cutbacks have been ordered.

As of May 17, Marines eligible for SRBP bonuses are not authorized to reenlist for that payment more than 30 days prior to their EAS.

That word from the Plans and Policy Division of the Manpower Department at HQMC, carried even further the recently announced restrictions on SRBP payments to only Marines with an EAS in FY82.

According to ALMAR 121/82, the initial restriction was necessary to "decrease the rapid expenditure rate of SRBP funds which had occurred during the first half of FY82."

At the present time, the Corps' request for additional funds is pending before Congress. Meanwhile, the need has arisen to cut back further until those supplemental funds are approved.

This new policy will provide those Marines nearest their EAS the opportunity to reenlist for a bonus; however, it does not affect the reenlistment of Marines who are ineligible for the program.

The Enlisted Assignments Branch of the Personnel Management Division will consider waivers on a case-by-case basis for Marines who are not within 30 days of their EAS but who are issued permanent change of station and must have obligated service prior to transfer.

Further, Marines who are not within 30 days of their EAS but whose reenlistment has been approved by a message with a date-time-group prior to May 17, 1982, may reenlist for the bonus.

Additionally, Marines in the Agreement To Train Option Program who are not within 30 days of their EAS but who complete their training and are reclassified into their new Military Occupational Specialty, may also reenlist for a bonus.

Expansion

Corps increases forward area air defense firepower

HQMC — Forward Area Air Defense (FAAD) firepower in the Marine Corps will quadruple by the end of this year.

According to aviation officials here, by the end of 1982 each Marine aircraft wing will have four FAAD platoons, as well as a headquarters element. This expansion is part of a phased plan to increase ground air defense capabilities. Presently, each wing has only one FAAD firing platoon. In Fiscal Year 1984, the FAAD expansion will be completed when a fifth platoon is added to each wing. After expansion, each FAAD battery will have 277 Marines.

FAAD units will provide low altitude (zero to 10,000 feet) air defense to forward combat maneuver elements as well as provide point air defense for designated vital areas such as ammunition depots and command and control elements.

"The FAAD Marines hit the beach along with the first assault elements," said aviation officials. "This gives ground combat troops air defense protection from the earliest stages of the assault."

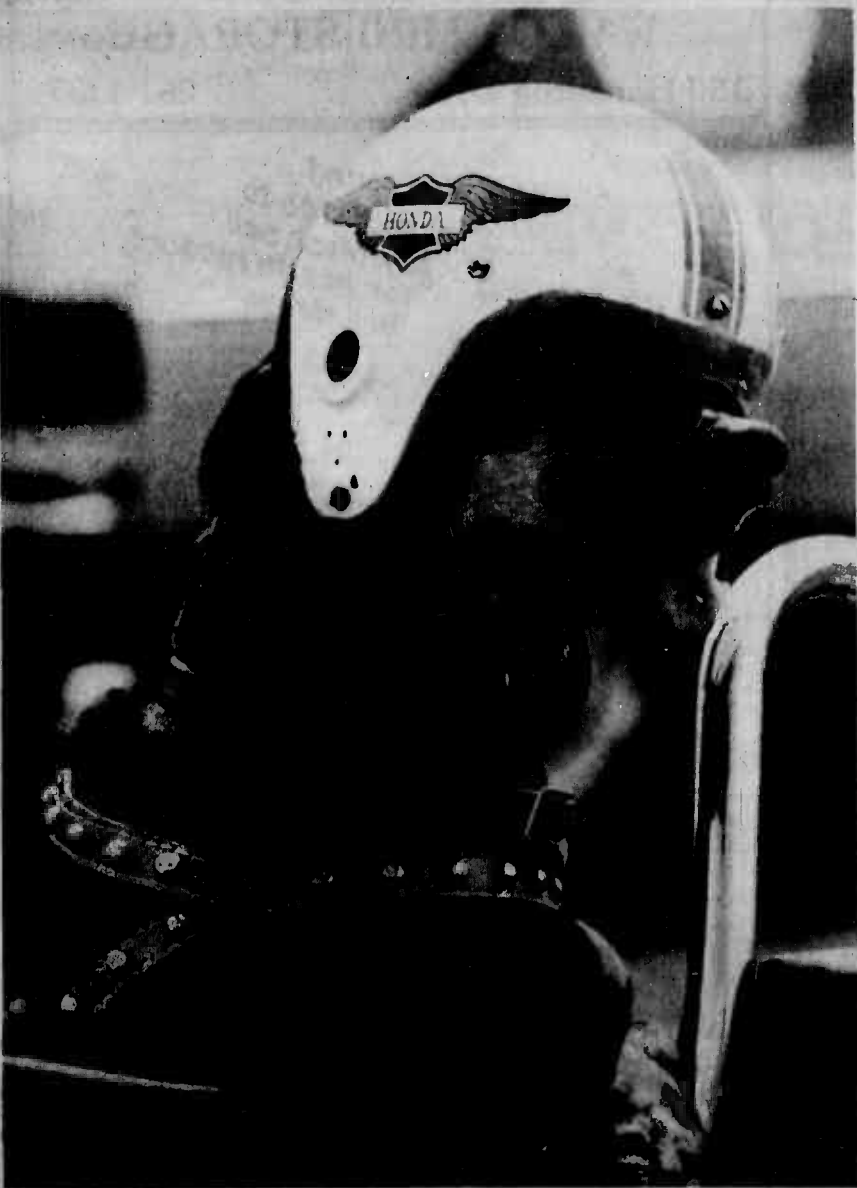

The basic unit of the firing platoon is a two-man team composed of a team chief and a gunner. Each team member carries two missile rounds. In addition to being a back-up gunner, the team chief assists the gunner by providing aircraft identification and target position information. He also functions as the team's communicator. There are five two-man teams per section and three sections per platoon.

The weapons employed by the FAAD gunners are the "Redeye" and "Stinger" missile systems. Stinger is currently replacing Redeye as the Marine Corps Short Range Air Defense System (SHORAD). Each system is a man-portable, shoulder-fired, surface-to-air missile system which homes in on the infrared energy (heat) emitted by the engines of the hostile aircraft. The Stinger system has an increased range, altitude and engagement capability over Redeye and is also equipped with an "Identification Friend or Foe" system.

Although the FAAD units directly support ground combat units, they are under the command and control of Marine aircraft wings. The 3d FAAD is currently stationed at MCB Camp Pendleton, Calif.; the 2d FAAD is at MCAS Cherry Point, N.C.; and the 1st FAAD is at MCAS Futenma, Okinawa, Japan.

FAAD gunners are trained by Marines at the Army Air Defense Center, Fort Bliss, Texas. During the seven-week school, they learn the mechanical and technical aspects of the equipment and missiles they will use, as well as aircraft identification.

Asbestosis

Screening survey points out potential Marine victims

by Sgt Greg Berry

Asbestosis is a lung condition caused by breathing asbestos dust, and anyone who has ever worked around the fireproof material is a candidate for lung disease.

In the tradition of "taking care of its own," the Station Safety Office here conducted an asbestos screening survey to locate those who have been exposed. Master Sergeant Thomas Bishop, a safety specialist, explained that the surveys were distributed to all the Marines and civilian workers with Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron and Station Operations and Maintenance Squadron.

Persons identified as having been exposed to asbestos, are referred to the medical department for further screening. The Asbestos Control Officer here, Navy Lieutenant Hal Bryant, said that individuals referred to him are given lung tests and special X-rays to determine the extent of exposure. Those exposed do not always suffer ill effects, but those who do, or have the potential to develop medical problems, are placed on the Asbestos Medical Surveillance Program. Depending on the individual case, checks are conducted anywhere from annually to every five years.

Arizona Memorial commemoration site

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii — The U.S. Navy will participate in commemorative services at the Arizona Memorial and Punchbowl Memorial Day.

The National Park Service will sponsor the Pearl Harbor service aboard the Arizona Memorial at 9 a.m. with more than 150 invited guests presenting wreaths to commemorate the nation's war dead.

Navy Chaplain Lieutenant James Harwood, from Pearl Harbor Naval Station, will offer the benediction aboard the Arizona Memorial in honor of those who died serving the nation.

Alfred Preis, the architect who designed the Memorial more than 20 years ago, will be the guest speaker. The Pearl Harbor service also marks the 20th anniversary of the opening of the Arizona Memorial in 1962.

Navy Second Class Builder Benjamin Woodall, from the Pearl Harbor Naval Station, will be a member of the Joint Armed Forces Color Guard participating in the ceremony at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific Monday at 9 a.m. Navy Lieutenant Commander Robert Schall, who is chaplain for the 14th Coast Guard District, will offer the prayer.

EXPENSIVE SHORTCUT — A moped enthusiast takes a shortcut across the Kaneohe Klipper Golf Course. The golf course is not an access route to North Beach or the housing area. Damage caused by mopeds and bicycles increase operational cost and that increase is passed along to golf course patrons. Military members who are caught damaging the greens will be cited and must appear before the Station Traffic Court. Civilians will also be cited, but they must appear before a U.S. Magistrate Court. ## Marriage Encounter set

An information night on "Marriage Encounter" will be held at the Station Chapel here Tuesday at 7 p.m. Representatives of the three different faith expressions (Interfaith, Roman Catholic, and Episcopal) will show a 20-minute film, give a short presentation, and offer a panel discussion. Previously encountered couples are welcome to join those who have not yet had this opportunity to make a good marriage better. Also available that evening will be representatives of "Engaged Encounter", "Parent-Teen Encounter", and "Family Encounter". Should you have any questions, contact Chaplain Dansak at 257-3608 or Gary Enochs at 254-4544.

Ombudsman

If you have a question or complaint about the content of the Hawaii Marine — or a suggestion or compliment — please telephone our Ombudsman, Gunnery Sergeant Theresa Gallagher, at 257-2178.

GySgt Gallagher, the Joint Public Affairs media operations chief, will endeavor to answer your questions and complaints through impartial investigations. She will accept calls between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Selected complaints and responses will be printed on a weekly basis.

At a glance

Scuba Locker

The Scuba Locker is under new management. Staff Sergeant Charles Miller is now in charge of the locker, which offers inexpensive snorkeling and diving equipment rentals.

The locker, located in Building 1698, is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday and closed Monday and Tuesday.

For more information, call the locker at 257-2219.

Country store sale

A country store sale is being held Friday by the Consolidated Fiscal Accounting Office and Comptrollers to raise money for Navy Relief.

Plants, flowers, crafts and records will be sold as well as pies, cupcakes, brownies, fudge and kim chee.

There will also be chili/rice and chili dogs for $1 and hot dogs for 50 cents. The sale will be held in Building 209.

Excess property sale

The Command Club Management System aboard the air station will conduct an excess property sale June 29 and 30, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., on the Staff Non-commissioned Officers' Club lanai.

Among the items for sale are chairs, tables, bar stools and a pool table. The merchandise is in fair to good condition and all sales are final. The property will be on display June 28, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., on the Staff NCO Club lanai.

Immunization Clinic

In an effort to improve efficiency, the Immunization Clinic aboard the air station is scheduling allergy patients separately.

Unlike other patients, individuals with allergies must be monitored after shots are given, thus causing others to wait.

The new immunization hours for allergy patients are from 7:45 to 8:30 a.m., Monday through Friday, Tuesday and Friday from 2:15 to 3:15 p.m. Allergy patients may also receive shots. The Immunization Clinic is closed on weekends.

Babysitting course

The American Red Cross "Super Sitters" babysitting course will be offered June 14, 16, 21, 23 from 10 a.m. to noon. All young people ages 11 and up who are interested in being a "prepared" babysitter are invited to attend free of charge. Content of the course will include: what makes a good babysitter, accident prevention in the home, first aid, care of the infant, creative play for children; and finding, accepting, and declining jobs. At the completion of the 8-hour course participants will receive the American Red Cross Certificate of Completion.

Call the Pearl Harbor Family Service Center at 474-1256 to register. The classes will be held in the Educational Trailers located across the street from the Main Post Chapel, Pearl Harbor.

Navy tuition assistance

Due to a shortage of funds, the U.S. Navy has been forced to cut tuition assistance to 50 percent. Although the Navy's decision to slash TA doesn't affect Marines, some sailors aboard the air station will feel the financial squeeze.

"Members of the Navy who are attached to Marine units will continue to receive TA, through the Marine Corps, at the current levels of 75 percent to 90 percent," explained First Lieutenant John Chester, assistant education officer.

Navy personnel not attached to Marine units must draw their TA from the Navy.

Provisions to assist Navy students affected by the decrease in TA will be provided by several academic institutions on the island.

St. Louis High School offers no interest promissory notes for up to 50 percent of tuition cost. Both Chaminade University and Hawaii Pacific College have no interest promissory notes available up to 40 percent of tuition cost. Although the University of Hawaii doesn't offer promissory notes, the university is accepting applications for student grants.

Technicians 'strip and reclothe' engines

Power plants keep squadrons flying

Story and photos
by Sgt Pepper Davis

"Without us, the squadrons couldn't fly." Gunnery Sergeant Henry Palomo, division chief of Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron-24's power plants, could not be more concise than that.

And he means it. No brag, just fact.

Subtract the 76 Marines of the power plants and every aircraft on this station would be grounded. Face it. Planes and helicopters cannot fly without engines, and engines are the "claim to fame" of the power plant's repairmen. They are accountable for fixing or rebuilding every aircraft engine within Marine Aircraft Group-24.

The power plants can be described best as a conglomerate broken down into four sections. Each is liable for some type of aircraft engine ranging from the huge and powerful fighter planes to the comparatively smaller helicopter engine. Add them all up, and the total will be an inventory of approximately $10 million. The tool supply, which is in excess of $1 million, further attests to the seriousness of the engine repair business: to do good work, you need good equipment.

The exceptions to the engine repair routine are the Component Shop, and the Tank Farm. Marines of the component shop concentrate on all the rotor dynamics and drive systems of helicopters. Tank Farm leathernecks are tasked with repairing external fuel tanks for fighter planes, and the internal tanks for the rotary crafts.

The technicians there perform first degree maintenance. This means they are capable of stripping those babies naked, and re-clothing them with a wardrobe of complex wires, gears, gaskets and components.

The power plants provide two types of engine maintenance: scheduled and unscheduled. Palomo said that under the scheduled category, engines are brought in periodically for checkups. "Sometimes we get an engine in here and all it needs is a quick bearing change, and then it's out again."

"But," he said, "if an engine is brought here unscheduled, it's more than likely FODed (Foreign Object Damaged)."

FOD is an archenemy of aircraft mechanics. It disrupts work routines and often extends repairs for months. Palomo said when it happens, it sends his workers through some changes.

The gunny explained that before engines are returned to squadrons, they must first pass the unwavering scrutiny of the Test Cells. A Test Cell is an intricate diagnostic machine that monitors the cardiovascular system of an engine. Helicopter engines are tested on mobile machines, and fighter plane engines are checked in a stationary structure containing a cell.

"It really puts an engine through the paces to see if it meets its specifications," Palomo explained. He declared that the Cell's results is the final word because, "its accuracy is on the money." New engines are also tested by the Cell before issuing them.

Once the testing is complete, an engine is again examined. "We go over it with a fine tooth comb. Then we invite the squadron to come and look at it," he said.

Engine mechanics are trained at the aviation school at the Naval Air Station in Millington, Tenn. Once they obtain their specialty in either the helicopter or jet field, they spend the next year bounding from one school to another, with on-the-job training in between. Then they settle into a regular routine — maybe.

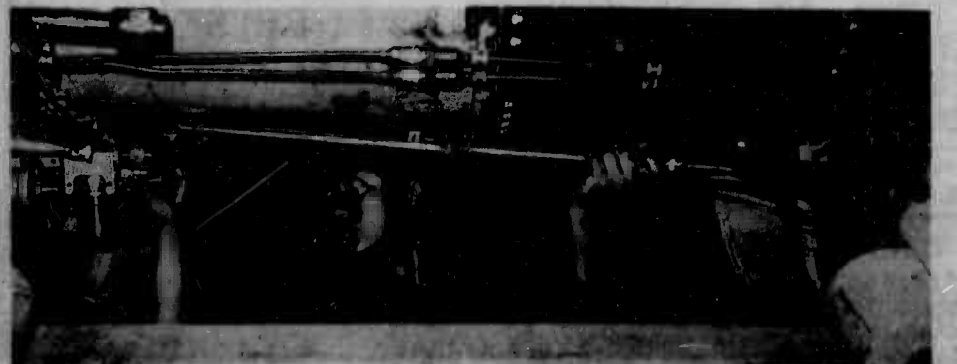

It may sound like a hassle, but Palomo said to keep abreast with the trends in engine repairs, additional schooling is an absolute must. "These mechanics will never stop going to schools. The systems change constantly and they have to be aware of what's going on."

Although the power plant's mechanics have steady hands and numble fingers like highly-skilled surgeons, in pressure situations one slip of the scalpel could be tragic. However, Palomo said he has enormous faith in his workers, characterizing them as being very talented and extremely conscientious.

"Our technicians are outstanding and I'll match them against any power plant division in the Marine Corps," he said.

Marines share Armed Forces Day

Story and photos
by Sgt Pepper Davis

While many service people spent Armed Forces Day at open houses and other celebrations, 20 Marines and their wives spent the day entertaining senior citizens.

The leathernecks, from Motor Transport Company, Brigade Service Support Group, were hosts to 25 elderly folks of the Pohainani Good Samaritan Kau Hale Retirement Village in Kaneohe, on a tour of the North Shore.

What was at first a casual suggestion, was taken a step further to become a heartwarming adventure.

ACCORDING TO MAJOR Chris Bennett, company commander, the idea was prompted from a presentation by the Family Services Center. "We asked what we could do to get involved in the community. They gave us some suggestions and we went from there," he said. First Lieutenant Richard Riffe, company executive officer, coordinated the excursion with Larry Van Hunnik, director of the village.

Upon hearing the proposition, Van Hunnik said he would be delighted to help. "The response we got from the residents here was overwhelming," he commented. "In fact, we had more people sign up than the bus could hold."

"Some of the residents haven't been around the island in a number of years, and many of the new ones have never been to the North Shore. They were really looking forward to it," he said.

Van Hunnik explained that May has a two-fold significance for the elderly. "May is Senior Citizens' Month, and the 15th of the month began National Nursing Home Week. It was appropriate that the Marines thought of us."

Riffe said it was no trouble getting volunteers from his unit, and they, too, experienced having more people than space allowed, but it worked out.

COMPANY MARINES chipped in to buy leis for their guests. "The leis were our gesture of Aloha," said Bennett.

When the Marines "landed" at Pohainani, the leis were presented and greetings exchanged. The tour began.

During the bus ride to the North Shore, the Marines and their venerable company paired off and swapped versions of their backgrounds. The seniors eagerly quizzed their young hosts on their experiences in the Corps, their jobs, goals, and the folks back home. The Marines reciprocated with mutual curiosity.

Jack Moyer, a spry octogenarian village resident, assisted as the tour guide. His memory served him well as he recalled the island's history, and growth from territorial link to part of the 50th state.

The group stopped at Haleiwa Beach Park where the Marines were treated to refreshments provided by their guests. More questions and answers ensued.

The park's gentle breezes, and the ocean's view added serenity to the outing. As it neared the hour to head back to Kaneohe, it appeared as though each person wished for more time.

BEFORE BOARDING the bus, a lady approached several Marines and asked: "Did you fellows really volunteer for this?"

"Yes ma'am," they replied in unison.

"Oh, what darlings!" she exclaimed. If there is such a thing as a generation gap, it was bridged that day. Age was a matter of feeling, not of years.

GOOD SAMARITAN — Second Lieutenant James Daley presents a lei to Gertrude Davenport as Dorothea Stamatis watches. Daley was one of several Marines from Motor Transport Company, Brigade Service Support Group, who spent Armed Forces Day with 25 senior citizens of the Pohainani Good Samaritan Kau Hale Retirement Village.

WHAT A DARLING — Private First Class Steven Barnard listens attentively to Marjorie Bedinger as they stroll through Haleiwa Beach Park. Barnard and 19 other Marines of Motor Transport Company, Brigade Service Support Group, shared Armed Forces Day with 25 elderly folks of the Pohainani Good Samaritan Kau Hale Retirement Village, as they toured the North Shore of Oahu.

Demonstration displays devildogs' defenses

by Sgt Chris Tonegatto

Leathernecks of the 1st Marine Brigade rolled out the proverbial red carpet for approximately 150 senior citizens May 19.

The senior citizens from the Waikiki Community Center, and the Waikiki and Kuhio Park Terrace Program Lunch Sites were treated to two demonstrations of the brigade's air and ground capabilities.

THE GROUP, visiting the air station for the sixth year, received a welcome from 3d Marines Commanding Officer Colonel Edward Mockler at the 3d Marines Training Facility. Then Captain Mike Warren, assistant operations officer for 3d Marines and the group's escort this year, presented a brief on the 3d Marines.

Next they witnessed an exercise at the anti-mechanized course involving members of Company G, 2d Battalion, 3d Marines and Detachment, Company A, 3d Assault Amphibious Battalion.

Golf company Infantrymen demonstrated the various weapons a reinforced Marine squad would use during an attack.

The squad then prepared for the "attack." Marines in amphibian vehicles acted as the aggressors. The vehicles roared into the squad's territory and then over the top of six Marines in three fighting holes.

"My heart just stopped when I saw those tanks (amphibious vehicles) run over the Marines sticking out of the ground. But, they just ducked down and then came up shooting!" exclaimed Ina McKee from the Waikiki Community Center.

Captain Richard Roan, commanding officer of Det. Co. A, 3d AABN, explained to the group that this type of training is essential to the Marine infantryman. "The course is designed to give a Marine confidence that he can defeat an enemy's mechanized attack."

AFTER THE SQUAD had successfully repelled the "attack," the tracked vehicles returned to the area. Then some of the senior citizens braved the vehicles noise and bouncing to ride in the back to the training facility.

"It was wonderful," commented Balasanos Henry of the Waikiki Program Lunch Site. "I thought that seeing the type of weapons they use today and how they perform was especially interesting. Things have changed a lot since I retired from the Army in 1959."

The senior citizens were escorted to Westfield, where they watched Company A, 3d Reconnaissance Battalion Marines rappel from a helicopter.

Tony Grace from the Waikiki Community Center said, "This is very different from last year. I think each visit is exciting and educational. And the tanks running over the Marines was just scary."

To add icing to the cake, the senior citizens had lunch at the Officers' Club. As they sat down to lunch, a Marine officer joined each table. This gave the civilians a chance to ask questions about the Marine Corps.

Retired Army Major Richard Trusdell, volunteer activities chairman for the Waikiki Community Center senior citizens, is the driving force behind the groups' visits to the air station. "My son was a Marine and I have always thought they were far superior to the average military man. So, after talking to a few of his Marine friends, I arranged for 35 senior citizens to view the Competition Squad in 1976."

"WE DIDN'T VISIT the air station in 1977 but we've been here to see the Competition Squad and send them off to Quantico, Va. In '78, '79, '80 and '81. This year the squad left for Quantico before we could visit but Capt Warren was able to put together a fine demonstration for us."

As the luncheon ended the Samoan members of the Kuhio Park Terrace Program Lunch Site rose from their seats and sang the Samoan Farewell Song.

Elaine Faumuina, supervisor of the Kuhio Park Terrace group, translated some of the words at the song's end, "Goodbye my friend, I never will forget you."

ALL ABOARD — Samoan members of the Kuhio Park Terrace Program Lunch Site prepare for a ride in an amphibian vehicle.

DRAGON SHOOTING — Lance Corporal Mark Ludvik and Private First Class Dave Conley, 2d Battalion, 3d Marines, demonstrate how to fire a dragon weapon while Captain Richard Roan explains to the visiting senior citizens.

Leathernecks evaluate 'new and improved' rifle

by LCpl Jose Esparra Jr.

QUANTICO, Va. — A lot of items on the market today bear labels saying 'new and improved.' If the Marine Corps ultimately adopts the Colt Industries' modified M-16A1E1 service rifle, it will also be able to carry that label and many a Marine marksman will attest that the weapon is an improvement.

With the majority of the testing already completed, the Firepower Division of the Marine Corps Development Center here, is in the process of formulating a recommendation to be given to the Commandant of the Marine Corps via the Commanding General, MCEC, with the proposed weapon changes.

"WE'RE STILL WAITING on results of developmental tests from Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., and Fort Dix, N.J., before submitting a final report to Headquarters Marine Corps," said Major Bruce Wincentsen, M-16 project officer.

So far, the test results have been favorable with only a few minor problems encountered.

During the testing phase, shooters indicated the sights on the new rifle were easier to adjust and learn how to use. Additionally, data showed that the modified M-16 is slightly more advantageous to unqualified shooters on the Known Distance (KD) course.

"Concerning safety, it was determined that elevation adjustments could be made with a loaded rifle because the sight is at the rear," related Wincentsen. "The same could not be said for the current service rifle."

WHEN FIRED ON the field range course, there was no significant difference in the amount of destructive or suppressive fire delivered by the either rifle. But, on the modified infantry trophy course, it was noted that the modified rifle delivered 11 percent more suppressive fire at 600 yards than the standard rifle.

In long-range firing (600, 700 and 800 yards), using data from both the operational test and supplementary testing, it was determined that shooters who were biased toward the current rifle and fired expert with it did slightly better with the current rifle, while others, to include distinguished shooters, did better with the M-16A1E1.

"On our fire distribution test, which was essentially a test for burst control, the shooters had to fire at four silhouettes with 15 rounds in 15 seconds using either the automatic or burst control mode, depending on which rifle the shooter had," said Wincentsen. "From a distance of 100 meters, the modified rifle proved more effective. Results showed it had 42 percent hits while the present model had 35 percent hits."

"WE BELIEVE THE modified rifle would have been superior had it not been for some of the educated, two round burst, trigger fingers of most Marines shooting the standard M-16."

The modified rifle was also tested on other courses against the current rifle with the results weighing favorably for the new version.

As for the problems encountered during the testing, Wincentsen considered most to be minor with only a couple of major significants.

READY! AIM! FIRE! — Corporal James Reid, one of 30 Marines and soldiers involved in testing the modified M-16A1E1, aims in on the target at Weapons Training Battalion. (Photo by LCpl Jose Esparra)

One was the ammo used in the one-in-seven twist barrel made it difficult to hold an impartial or fair test because the quality control was very poor.

The other problem was that Colt Industries had specially selected the barrels for the standard M-16's used for the testing. They were the best they had.

"We couldn't believe how well the standard models were shooting," said Wincentsen. "When firing the standard rifles, shooters were getting significantly higher scores than what they normally had when qualifying."

BESIDES THE operational testing conducted, supplementary tests were also performed to evaluate barrel strength, accuracy, sight size, and the human factor, man/machine interface. This was to determine if some of the questions and comments which rose during the operational testing were valid or not.

"Primarily, we tested the rifle for effectiveness, strength, durability and reliability," said Wincentsen.

The final report being sent to the Commandant of the Marine Corps for approval will contain recommendations for nine changes to the current service rifle plus adoption of the NATO type round.

A muzzle break compensator replacing the flash suppressor will be added to reduce the amount of jump in the barrel after firing.

The barrel of the rifle will be heavier with a one-in-seven twist to handle the XM855 round. The front sight post is square to improve clarity and reduce glare. The settings for windage and elevation will be finger manipulated and located on the rear sight. It will have a combat aperture for use in ranges of 0-200 yards and a long-range accurate aperture for ranges of 300-800 yards.

THE HAND GUARDS will be of a stronger material, redesigned and be easier to remove. The stock will be of stronger material and the length will increase five-eighths of an inch to conform with current human factors, studies and doctrine.

The pistol grip will be contoured to better fit the hand. The butt cap will be checked to reduce slippage on the shoulder.

Perhaps the most significant change in the weapon is in the firing mode. The new weapon no longer has a fully automatic mode. The modified model will utilize a short burst control mechanism which allows the shooter to shoot three rounds burst with each trigger pull. This would conserve ammunition and increase hit probability.

With all of the proposed changes for the M-16, the words 'new and improved' will have a special significance.

Admin system starts recovery

HQMC — The health of the Marine Corps' personnel administration system continues to be monitored here and Manpower officials say, "a review of the 'patient's' chart reveals that recovery is not complete, but the prognosis is excellent."

THE PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATIVE Management Section of the Manpower Department is responsible for monitoring and coordinating all administrative functions throughout the Corps. "One by one, we believe we are curing the long list of illnesses," an MPI spokesman remarked. Section officials point to a series of recent and proposed changes which will aid in the recovery process:

—A "Guide for Consolidated Administration" was published during September 1981 to assist commanders in the establishment and operation of a consolidated administrative center. Material in the guide represents the advice and collaboration of units Marine Corps-wide that have been successful in consolidating administrative functions.

—A complete revision of the Individual Records Administration Manual was published in February 1982. Among some of the many changes was the elimination of 41 required entries on page 11 of the Service Record Book.

—The Assignment, Classification and Travel Systems Manual is under revision, with a planned completion date of July 1982.

—Actions are underway to improve the professional training of Marine administration specialists. The programs of instruction for the formal "01" school are being completely revised, and the personnel administration school will be relocated from Parris Island, S.C., to Marine Corps

Service Support Schools, Camp Lejeune, N.C., during September 1982. A pilot program is currently being conducted at MCSSS to test the updated course material and will continue through September 1982. Also, the instructor/student ratio is being increased.

ALREADY, SIGNS OF RECOVERY are becoming apparent. During November 1979, the Corps added additional criteria and established an overall performance goal of 96 percent for the monthly Command Statistical Transaction Analysis Report. The STAR accumulates reporting unit data and provides timeliness, acceptance, correction response and overall performance rates for reporting units within major commands dealing with the Joint Uniformed Military Pay System/Military Manpower System. Although individual units and commands had periodically attained the 96 percent performance goal, it was considered unachievable for the Marine Corps as a whole.

In January 1982, however, the Marine Corps collectively achieved an overall performance rate of 96.5 percent. The Commandant of the Marine Corps General Robert H. Barrow, attributed this to the recent emphasis and attention directed toward improving the system. "Reaching this goal for the first time is a major achievement," the Commandant said. "Administrative personnel throughout the Corps can take great pride in what they have accomplished."

Personnel Administrative Management officials say they're open to suggestions for improving the systems even more. Major Kathleen Newbold, Robert James and First Lieutenant Donald Angely have invited anyone who has a good idea or some constructive criticism to call them at AUTOVON 224-1122/1452 or (202) 694-1122/1452.

Would you be as proud of any other job?

Incentive program doubles awards

HQMC, WASHINGTON — When was the last time you made $10,000 for making a suggestion? A recent change to the Marine Corps Incentive Awards Program has doubled the amounts awarded to Marines and civilians.

Commonly known as the "beneficial suggestion program," MCIAP awarded more than $50,000 last year for suggestions submitted by Marine Corps personnel.

The purpose of the award increases is to overcome the effects of inflation and to increase participation in the program.

All Marine Corps military and civilian personnel are encouraged to submit suggestions that can improve government operations. The amount of money awarded, up to $25,000, varies with the benefits generated by the suggestion or scientific achievement.

According to officials, suggestions can be submitted on just about anything — simplification or improvement of methods, operations, equipment or organization; conservation of material or property, etc.

Suggestions "should contribute to the efficiency, economy or other improvement of operations or programs of the department or government." Improvements through inventions and scientific achievements also qualify.

Each command has an awards program representative to assist those with suggestions. Suggestions must be submitted in writing on NAVSO Form 5305/4 to the local command's program administrator.

If you have a suggestion that could improve Marine Corps operations, contact your local incentive awards administrator, or see Marine Corps Order 1650.17E or Civilian Manpower Management Instruction 461.

Environmental specialist sets high standards

by Sgt Corrina Martell

One of the newest additions to the air station's civilian workforce is a lady named Dr. Diane Drigot — but the jobs and problems she will be handling are not new.

Drigot was hired in April as the air station's Environmental Protection Specialist — the focal point for all environmental laws — national and local.

Drigot has been in Hawaii for five years, and was employed as the assistant director of the Environmental Center, University of Hawaii, before coming to the air station. She has a doctorate in natural resources from the University of Michigan.

Drigot came to Hawaii in 1977 because she was offered a job as research associate with the East-West center on the UH Manoa Campus. She worked there for approximately three years.

As the new environmentalist, Drigot has some enthusiastic projects scheduled. "There are several things we are doing right away," she said.

"One of them is updating a 1974 Natural Resource Management Plan for the station.

"In addition to the update, I also have to develop an Environmental Awareness program for the station so that people will become aware of what is important in our environment.

"We need to develop a more specific boundary around Nuupia Pond so that resources around the pond can be protected from vehicles and people. One recent effort was to construct a new amphibious assault vehicle concrete crossing at the pond to provide an alternate route. The old route is used by the endangered stilt birds as a nesting habitat.

"We have to control predators also. Some people don't keep their dogs on leashes and the dogs eat the eggs of the stilt bird," she said.

Drigot said she wants to concentrate on getting more service projects on station, such as encouraging college students to come on base to study birds.

Since there is so much personnel turnover aboard the air station, Drigot explained that very few military people are aware of how the Hawaiian people treasure the unique wildlife and cultural resources on station.

"For example," Drigot continued, "native Hawaiians have strong feelings about the Mokapu Peninsula, the area on which the air station stands. According to Hawaiian legend, man was created here when three Hawaiian gods formed his image in the sands of Heleloa, bringing him to life."

Married five years, Drigot is the wife of Dr. Robert Reed who works for the City and County of Honolulu as a Policy Planner.

Drigot is excited about her new job. "It's a lot of responsibility for one person, but it's an important job and challenging to me," she commented.

"There is more work here than one person can do. A second or third position may be developed within the next couple of years. Everyone on station has their own responsibility to contribute to environment awareness. If anything occurs such as birds being shot or oil spills, it should be reported," Drigot concluded.

HQMC News

Spanish linguists needed

HQMC — The Marine Corps wants 20 of its 2,000 Spanish-speaking Marines to lateral move into military occupational specialty 2674 (Cryptologic Spanish Linguist) to fill a shortage in the field. Native speakers are especially desired.

The program is open to sergeants and below. Candidates must be capable of successfully completing a Special Background Investigation, have a GT score of 100 or above, and have no NJP or court-martial markings in their Service Record Book.

Qualified Marines will be accepted into the field under the Agreement to Train Option Program (ATOP) and will undergo about 15 weeks of technical instruction at Goodfellow Air Force Base in Texas. Cryptologic Spanish Linguists can be assigned to a wide variety of duties, according to intelligence officials here, but the most commonly assigned duty stations are in North Carolina, Florida, Maryland and Cuba.

More information can be obtained from local career planners or ALMAR 88/82.

Military air fare

WASHINGTON — Service members are not taking full advantage of special half-price airline tickets, according to the Military Traffic Management Command (MTMC).

The message from the command, dated April 18, said, "We continue to receive evidence that many personnel on active duty are unaware of the special fares and their significance." The message described the tickets as "one of the most generous benefits ever offered to the armed forces by American industry."

Active duty military personnel are offered a 50 percent discount on coach class fares for most major U.S. airlines. The discount is available on domestic (non-overseas) flights only. Service members may be required to show their green, active-duty I.D. cards at the time of purchase, though travel in uniform is not required.

Tickets may be advertised as "furlough fare," "leave fare," or "YM" fare. They provide the traveler with a reserved seat, and may be bought at any travel agency, airline ticket office or scheduled airlines traffic office (SATO).

Light armored vehicle

HQMC — The Armed Services Committees of the House and the Senate reached different conclusions on the Joint Marine Corps/Army Light Armored Vehicle procurement program last month; the Senate supporting planned procurement figures and the House deleting funds entirely.

Because of the differences of opinion, it will be up to Senate and House conferees to work out a solution. This is not expected to take place before late May.

Meanwhile, testing continues on the 16 LAV test vehicles at the Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms, Calif. Initial testing of these vehicles is scheduled to be completed by the end of May.

Currently undergoing testing are the V150 4-wheel vehicle and V300 6-wheel vehicle both produced by Cadillac Gage; the 8-wheel MOWAG-Piranha from General Motors, Canada; and the tracked Stormer by Alvis, Ltd., of Coventry, England.

The test LAVs are being looked at to fill a void in the military inventory — a lightweight combat vehicle which can be procured and fielded quickly and accomplish a wide range of missions. The basic LAV will carry the 25mm M242 automatic cannon. Other mission roles being considered include: command and control; mortar; anti-tank; air defense; assault gun; maintenance and recovery; and logistics.

The Marine Corps has earmarked $89.7 million in Fiscal Year 1983 for procurement of the vehicle while the Army plans to spend $11.3 million.

Do-it-yourself mechanic

Recession, inflation... the words sound familiar, and what they mean is, it costs more today for goods and services than it did last year.

Consumers (that's us) are looking for ways to save money.

One way to save money is by doing your own vehicle maintenance. While complete overhauling is beyond the comprehension of many, simple tasks such as tune-ups and oil changes have dual money-saving incentives. Doing the work yourself saves money and the maintenance helps your car get better gas mileage, which saves you even more cash.

But how does a novice with "two left hands" learn to do these simple jobs? The answer lies in "The Back-Yard Mechanic," a two-volume set of helpful hints on auto repair and maintenance. The series is written by the staff of "Driver," the traffic safety magazine for the military driver.

The books are available for a nominal fee from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

With the books and a little help, anyone can do simple, money-saving work on their car — provided they have the proper tools. If a person doesn't have a fully equipped garage at home, there's the Auto Hobby Shop here to help. The shop is open 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

For more information, call the Hobby Shop at 257-2983.

Courts-Martial Report

EDITOR'S NOTE — The information contained in Courts-Martial Report is compiled by the Joint Legal Services Center and is published as a source of information for all Marines.

Private First Class Robert D. Hetrick, Detachment, Company A, 3d Amphibious Assault Battalion, 3d Marines, was convicted at trial by special court-martial of unauthorized absence from Nov. 14 to Dec. 21, 1981, from Dec. 23 to Dec. 27, 1981, from March 2 to March 3, 1982, and from March 15 to March 18, 1982; of failure to go to his appointed place of duty; and of assault on a corporal by pushing him into a wall.

He was sentenced to 75 days confinement at hard labor and reduction to private.

Lance Corporal Shawn M. Sullivan, 1st Radio Battalion, Fleet Marine Force, was convicted at trial by special court-martial of the wrongful use of marijuana.

He was sentenced to 20 days confinement at hard labor, forfeiture of $250 pay per month for two months and reduction to private first class.

Sergeant David L. Scott, Headquarters and Service Battalion, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, was convicted at trial by special court-martial of assault on a military police sergeant by kicking him in the leg; of assault on a military police corporal by kicking him in the chest; and of causing a false alarm of fire.

He was sentenced to 45 days confinement at hard labor, forfeiture of $150 pay per month for two months and reduction to lance corporal.

PFC Robert Melendez, Station Operations and Maintenance Squadron, Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay was convicted at trial by special court-martial of stealing an amplifier, a turntable, a stereo cartridge, of a total value of $392, the property of another Marine.

He was sentenced to six months confinement at hard labor, forfeiture of $250 pay per month for three months and reduction to private.

Sgt Gerald B. Ferguson, H&S Bn, FMFPac, was convicted at trial by special court-martial of the wrongful use of cocaine.

He was sentenced to five months confinement at hard labor, forfeiture of $350 pay per month for three months and reduction to private first class.

WASHINGTON (NES) ... Pain is the body's alert system that tells you something is wrong. During a routine medical examination, the doctor will ask you to describe the pain as accurately as you can. So it's important that you know how to answer your doctor's questions.

In describing your pain, begin with the first time you noticed that something was wrong. Inform the doctor of all the things you have done or medicines you have taken to relieve the pain. This is important because if you have taken aspirin or a similar drug, your pain may have lessened and your doctor may not be able to make a proper diagnosis.

As you continue your description, tell the doctor where the pain began and whether it has moved or spread from its original place. To help describe the intensity of the pain, try rating it on a scale of one to 10, with one being the least amount of pain and 10 being the greatest.

Describing the actual pain is probably the hardest part of the examination, but words like sore, achy, sharp, dull, throbbing and cramping are quite helpful.

Include in your description, too, whether the pain is constant and what, if anything, makes it better or worse. If the pain is recurring, indicate what seems to turn it on or off.

A side note ...

Medically speaking, pain is a symptom, while tenderness is a sign. This means that pain is what you usually complain of because it is there even when you rest; tenderness is the pain you or the doctor may produce by touching or pressing parts of your body. Sometimes there is a very subtle difference between pain and tenderness. But when you undergo a physical examination, you should be able to distinguish them.

If the doctor presses on a place that never hurt before — but does now — he or she has found a tender spot. If such a spot is found, the doctor may press that same place on the other side of your body for comparison.

If you already have a tender spot, pressing on it will make it feel worse. But it's important if a little pressure produces a lot of tenderness. You can use the one to 10 scale to tell this to your doctor, too.

Weathermen constantly hone skills

Story and photos
by Sgt Greg Berry

What are the chances of Kaneohe Bay having a white Christmas?
"When the next ice age comes, maybe — but until then, no, we won't have a white Christmas," predicted Staff Sergeant Thomas Clary, a forecaster with Station Weather Service. In fact, the station has never experienced a recorded snowfall.

KEEPING TABS ON weather conditions and maintaining records is all part of the daily routine for the 26 weather observers and forecasters here. Readings on temperature, pressure, wind direction and speed, dew point, surf condition and rainfall are taken every half-hour, hour, or six-hour period, depending on weather changes and recording procedures.

To do this, the Weather Service has a mercurial barometer, microbarograph, aneroid barometer and two wind chart recorders inside; and a rain gauge, globe and natural wet bulb thermometers (to measure heat stress), maximum and minimum temperature thermometers and a theodolite outside.

The theodolite measures the azimuth and elevation of ascending weather balloons which are released daily.

And, all of this equipment is in addition to an automatic weather station which constantly measures air temperature, wind direction and speed, dew point and rainfall, and the maximum and minimum temperatures per six-hour period. If this sophisticated gear breaks down, most of the same functions can be performed by hand-held and portable devices.

THE WEATHER SERVICE provides these readings, plus maps and climatology (average weather conditions of a region), to the squadrons and battalions here. The information gives pilots up-to-the-minute and forecasted flying conditions. The same information is essential to the infantry — especially the climatology reports.

When units deploy to another area, they have to know what type of weather to expect, and Station Weather can provide information for any place in the world — at the touch of a button.

Weather services throughout the world are linked together via Western Union, and the weather service here is no exception. Current weather conditions, as well as forecasts and climatology reports are all available.

Local weather conditions are transmitted via the same Western Union lines (called the Pacific Meteorological Data System) every hour, or when weather conditions change. When aircraft are flying the same information is sent straight to the air control tower.

IN ADDITION TO the wire network and local equipment readings, the weather observers have two facsimile machines which print satellite pictures and maps to help forecasters determine upcoming weather conditions.

"We don't release weather reports to civilians, but our records are sent to the Naval Oceanographic Command in Ashville, N.C. where they (the records) are made available to the public," explained Master Sergeant Jeanne Hamadyk. However, the observers here do work with the National Weather Service in Honolulu.

"Our relationship with them (NWS) is mutually supportive," said First Lieutenant Lee Halverson, the officer in charge of the weather service here. He explained that while there isn't any routine communication with the National Weather Service, the observers here keep the NWS notified of all weather changes via the wire network.

Not all the observers are forecasters though. Station Weather, which is manned 24 hours a day, is divided into four sections, with a forecaster assigned to each section.

OBSERVERS ATTEND a special six-month course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill. before becoming weather forecasters. And this training is in addition to the three-month basic school (also at Chanute) and years of experience in the field.

"You can't make mistakes with millions of dollars worth of aircraft flying around," said Corporal Mike Beaudette, a section watch leader. Beaudette commented on the learning process for observers, which never ends. "We are constantly refreshing our knowledge of height estimation (for clouds), cloud identification and map analysis," he added.

The sections also conduct approximately five hours of formal training per month to improve their skills.

But no matter how good their skills become, they still can't predict when an earthquake will occur... or when Oahu will have a white Christmas.

TRACKING — Corporal Mike Beaudette, azimuth and elevation of the balloon. The Station Weather Service, tracks an ascending weather balloon with the aid of a theodolite. The instrument records the readings are then compared to a chart that shows the rate of ascent.

It's not the win or loss, it's having a good time

by Sgt Greg Berry

"We don't keep track of wins and losses," Master Sergeant Clyde Harrison, president of the Youth Athletic Association here said, "because we don't put emphasis on winning."

That philosophy is behind the success of the local Little League program.

Little League began in Williamsport, Pa., when Carl Stotz formed the first league in 1939. The sport has grown immensely, and today is played in more than 30 countries throughout the world.

The association here has 13 Little League teams, with kids ranging from 8- to 14-years-old. Girls and boys 8-10 play in the Termite Division, 11- and 12-year-olds are in the Pee Wee Division, and 13- and 14-year-olds are in the Midget Division.

These teams play against each other and other teams within the Hawaiian Youth Sport League.

Home games are played at Coleman Field, with away games played at various installations, including Fort Shafter, Barbers Point, Schofield Barracks, Pearl Harbor, and Hickam and Wheeler Air Force bases. They also play ball against civilian teams.

"The bottom line," Harrison said, "is to have a good time."

Marines get 'Thumped,' but still split doubleheader

by Cpl Charles Marshall

The Hawaii Marines Varsity Softball Team split a doubleheader, 17-18 and 20-4 with the Thumpers Sunday. After the two games played at Fort Shafter, the team stands 15-9 on the season.

The Marines were first to draw blood in game one scoring their first five base runners. Sergeant George Bessette led off the inning with a single and was moved to second when Lance Corporal Thad Hammond got a base hit. Sgt Guillermo Foster, hitting the first of six Marine home runs, cleared the bases. The next batter, Chief Warrant Officer-2 John Roberts, followed suit with the second home run. Corporal Dino Roman singled and later scored the fifth run of the inning as Sgt Scott Nobles doubled.

THE THUMPERS CAME BACK in the bottom of the inning with two singles by Terry Cadwell and Frank Jones followed by a three-run homer by Jack Moananu.

The Marines added a run in the second with a homer by Hammond, but the Thumpers neutralized it with a two-run homer by the catcher Bronco Woodlyn.

Both teams scored four runs in the third and one in the fifth, however, the Thumpers added two in the fourth after the Marines went down one, two, three. At the top of the sixth the Marines were at bat and down 11-10. Singles by Bessette, Hammond and Foster set up Roberts' grand slam and the leathernecks took a three-run lead. Roman reached first with a single and came home as Private First Class Roger Dunnam homered over the center field fence.

The Thumpers returned in the bottom of the inning with five runs to tie the score. A double by Frank Jones was turned into a run as Moananu singled up the middle. Gary Slater moved Jones to second with a single and Randy Lacey cleared the bases with his second home run of the game.

The farthest advance made by the Marines in the seventh was to first, on a base hit by Hammond. As the Thumpers came to bat, their lead-off batter flied out. Frank Jones singled into right field to start the drive. Slater singled and moved the winning run to second base. As Lacey ripped a base hit deep into right field, Hammond took an extra step before throwing the ball home and allowed Jones to score ending the game, 18-17.

THE MARINES KNEW THEY could beat the Thumpers in the second game and went straight to work in the first inning. Going completely through the batting order, the Marines scored seven runs from seven hits, two being home runs.

The Thumpers went down in order. The Thumpers threatened to score in the second, but left Moananu stranded at third.

The Marines came back with four more runs.

In the top of the third, the Thumpers left another base runner on third unable to bring him home.

The Marines in the bottom of the inning scored seven more runs and had a commanding 18-0 lead.

Jones led off for the Thumpers in the fourth with a base hit. He was followed by base hits by Moananu and Slater. When Woodlyn reached first on a single the Thumpers had scored their first three runs. Eaton singled driving home Woodlyn for their last score of the game.

Roberts connected with a two-run homer in the bottom of the inning to make the final score, 20-4. The contest was stopped by the umpires calling into effect the 12-run rule.

Master Sergeant Dave Burnett, reminiscing on last year's state champion team, explained that this year is a rebuilding year for the Hawaii Marines. "Any time you have 12 new players it could be called a rebuilding year."

"WE HAVE A LITTLE PROBLEM with consistency both offensively and defensively, but when we're playing solid ball we're the best team around."

Predicting how they will finish this year, Coach Burnett continued, "we will be right there at the end (of the season)."

The only home game the Hawaii Marines will play this season will be June 5 at Kieley Field.

Smoker benefits Navy Relief

The Kaneohe Boxing Club had an outstanding night Friday at Bloch Arena, as three of their four fighters won their matches.

Two Marines, 147-pound Sergeant William Clayton and 139-pound Corporal Andre Banks of the Kaneohe team participated in the Navy Relief fund raiser.

Clayton won a quick decision over Manuel Mamuscia of Wahiawa 2:55 into the first round.

After being knocked down three times, each resulting in a standing eight count, the exhausted Mamuscia couldn't take any more and the referee stopped the contest.

Clayton was the aggressor from the start of the bout. Effectively using his left-right combination, he soon dominated the match. Mamuscia stood his ground for the first half of the round, but after Clayton slipped in a right to the jaw it wasn't long until Mamuscia's knees buckled and he found himself taking his second standing eight count. A solid right to the head by Clayton dazed his opponent and everyone knew the fight was over. Mamuscia asked that the contest be stopped and his corner threw in the towel.

Clayton's teammate, Banks, wasn't as lucky. Although his bout went the distance, he lost a unanimous decision to Walter Sims II of Hawaii Youth's Boxing Club in the main event.

Both boxers came out of their corners ready. They traded a few punches to size each other up. In the middle of the first round Sims seemed to get the better of Banks which influenced the judges to see it his way. Toward the end of the first round Sims came on strong and knocked his opponent into the ropes. Banks took a standing eight count and then continued to box.

The leatherneck was fighting an uphill battle in the second round. At one point Banks had Sims up against the ropes but didn't have the power to keep him there.

By the third round Banks knew he was down in points, and came on strong. Both fighters displayed excellent showmanship but Sims was declared the winner.

119-pound class — Michael Kedro, Hawaii Youth outpointed Edward Andres, Waiapahu. 125-pound class — Victor Koyada, Wahiawa, outpointed Johnny Guerra, Hawaii Youth.

132-pound class — Pernell Cruz, Waiapahu, outpointed James Akau, Molo, Jeffrey Pelen, Waiapahu, stopped Wesley Tada, Palolo 2:25, 2nd round.

139-pound class — Greg Apa, Palolo, stopped Stanley Canosa, Olympeia 0:40, 2nd round. Walter Sims II, Hawaii Youth, outpointed Andre Banks, Kaneohe.

147-pound class — Dale Cristobal, Kaneohe, stopped Christopher Ulu, Pokai Bay 0:58, 2nd round; William Clayton, Kaneohe, stopped Manuel Mamuscia, Wahiawa 2:55, 1st round.

150-pound class — Willett Baker, Kaneohe, outpointed Eric Johnson, Wahiawa.

156-pound class — Michael Rhym, Palolo, stopped Ropati Tautua, Hawaii Youth 2:35, 1st round.

Outstanding boxer — Michael Kedro, Hawaii Youth.

LAST TIME IN HAWAII — Sergeant William Clayton has the tape cut away from his hands for the last time. Clayton will be transferred to the mainland but will continue to fight for the Marine Corps. (Photo by Sgt Chris Taylor)

Entry forms for the Fourth Annual Run for Life Day, June 6, are available from the Hawaii Heart Association, 245 North Kukui Street.

The challenge run will begin at 7 a.m. The course begins and ends in front of the Iolani Palace and circles the state capitol and city hall districts. Prizes will be awarded to those who run the furthest and to those who collect the most money.

The team relay will begin at 7:30 a.m. Teams will compete in eight divisions, running one lap outside the Palace grounds and the next lap inside the grounds. Prizes will be awarded to the fastest division teams.

Registration deadline is Friday. The fee is $7 for individuals and $35 per team. All runners will receive T-shirts. Registration forms are also available at local running shops and the Athletics Office.

Call the Heart Association at 538-7021 for more information.

HONOLULU — Entry forms now are available for the Honolulu Marathon Association's Festival of Running, the annual Memorial Day weekend series of ultra-distance races, relays and fun runs.

The forms have been distributed to running shops, sporting goods stores, gyms, athletic clubs and running clubs. Information may be obtained from the Association office, 734-7200.

The Festival has four long-distance runs, relays for 10 member teams in 13 divisions, and the Hawaii Centipede Championships, all over a four-mile course in Hawaii Kai.

Bud Light Ultra Marathons at 100 miles, 100 kilometers (62.1 miles), 50 miles and 50 kilometers all start at 5 p.m. Saturday.

The Coca-Cola Relays, with each of a team's members completing the four-mile loop, begin at 6 a.m. on Sunday.

The Centipede Championships, a 2.3-mile race for seven-member teams joined by tape or ribbon, is set to start at 8 a.m. May 30. Entrants will be judged on costume and style.

The weekend will culminate in an awards ceremony and entertainment at the Waikiki Shell on Monday, starting at 2 p.m.

Entry fee for the Ultra Marathon events is $10 if received today and $18 thereafter. Fees for the relay teams are $50 and $80 (late), and for the Centipede teams are $25 and $40 (late).

The Marine Corps Reserve is sponsoring a 3-6-9 Sweeper Tournament, to benefit the Toys For Tots program, June 5 and 6 starting at 9 a.m. at the Stadium Bowl-O-Drome in Honolulu.

Entry fee is $2 plus an additional $3 as a bowling fee. To receive entry cards by return mail, send a $2 check to Toys For Tots, 3-6-9 Sweeper, Marine Corps Reserve Center, 530 Peltier Ave., Honolulu, HI 96818.

For more information contact the Reserve Center at 471-0202 or the Stadium Bowl-O-Drome at 949-6669.

The 3rd Annual United Service Organizations Golf Tournament will start with a 12:30 p.m. shotgun start at Hamala Bay Golf Course, Hickam Air Force Base June 17.

Entry fee is $35 and is a donation to the USO. The entry fee includes the awards banquet to immediately follow the tournament.

For more information and entry forms contact the Athletics Office.

The 1982 Lite Tinman Triathlon will be held July 11, and will consist of an 800-meter swim, 25-mile bike race and a 10-kilometer run.

In conjunction with the triathlon, Action Hawaii is sponsoring an all-military of service, with the championship trophy going to the branch whose top three finishers have the fastest cumulative time.

Entries are limited to 750. For more information and applications contact the Athletic Office.

More than 1,000 mentally retarded and physically handicapped people will be participating in the 1982 Hawaii Special Olympics State Games Friday and Saturday at Kaiser High School's sports complex.

Opening ceremonies — a parade and the traditional torch lighting — are scheduled for Friday at 6 p.m. with the competition continuing May 29 from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The participants, who will represent their respective schools and clubs, will compete in track and field, and swimming events. Also scheduled will be a basketball and soccer clinic.

Although most of the participants will be from Oahu and the neighbor islands, representatives from other countries are expected to compete.

Annual chess tournament scheduled for September

HQMC — It's time to break out the chess board and begin honing skills for the 23rd Annual Armed Forces Chess Championship Tournament.

Scheduled for Sept. 7-15 at the American Legion Hall of Flags in Washington, D.C., the tournament will feature three six-player teams from the Army, Air Force and Sea Services (Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard). The teams will compete in 12 rounds, matching each player against every other player of the opposing two teams.

Preceding the Armed Forces Chess Championship, a separate Sea Services Chess Championship will be held to select team members for the Sea Services team. This tournament will be held at Fort Meade, Md., Aug. 30-Sept. 3.

Morale Support officials here can select up to eight Marines to compete in the Sea Services Chess Championship, depending on the number of qualified applicants.

Marine participation will be based on a chess player's previous performance in Marine Corps and/or civilian sponsored competition and on their United States Chess Federation standing.

Local commands are encouraged to conduct area chess tournaments before June 30, so superior players can be recognized and provided added experience in tournament competition, according to Marine Corps Bulletin 1710 of March 19.

The top team prize for the Armed Forces Chess Champion is the Thomas Emery Memorial Trophy, named after the late Legionnaire and World War I Marine, who donated the funds for the first tournament in 1960.

In addition, awards will be given to outstanding tournament player, outstanding team player, tournament speed champion and for the best game of the tournament.

Marines on active duty are eligible for a place on the Sea Services team. Applications should be submitted to the Commandant of the Marine Corps (Code MSMS-13), Washington, D.C., 20380, no later than July 12.

Interested chess players should contact their local Special Services officer for more information, or call Pamela Hodge, Recreation Division, HQMC, at AUTOVON 224-2450 or (202) 694-2450.

For additional information, see Marine Corps Bulletin 1710 dated March 19, 1982.

BEYOND THE GATES — In cooperation with the current statewide and National Litter Control Program, there will be a special Diamond Head Climb at 2 p.m. every Saturday for the next 10 weekends, from now until July 17th.

The easy hike is free for the general public and conducted by members of The Clean Air Team, a local group founded in 1975 to help stop smoker pollution. A volunteer guide familiar with the area will accompany the hikers and answer questions.

The pleasant trek lasts two hours, round trip, beginning inside Diamond Head where the elevation of the crater floor is 200 feet, and following the state park trail to the summit at 761 feet.

Some persons might want to bring a flashlight for the short tunnel. There is also a steep staircase of 99 concrete steps with a safety railing, but the spectacular 360-degree view from the top is well worth the effort.

Participants are asked to pick up small amounts of litter along the way, and plastic bags are supplied by the Honolulu Department of Parks and Recreation. Those who wish to "lend a hand to clean our land" while participating in a healthy nonsmoking activity are asked to phone Scott Burlington at 735-6677.

University Summer Theatre announces the Summer 1982 Season which will include a Modern Dance Concert, the musical Carnival, and an Onoe Kikunobu Dance Concert performed by guest artists from the community and Japan.

The season opens June 18 with a Modern Dance Concert featuring the talents of former UH student Robert Small, Donna White, and Phyllis Haskell, a UH dance faculty member. Offering a wide variety of energies, images and qualities, the concert will consist of solos, duets and trios choreographed and danced by the three artists, emphasizing the maximum in motionality. Performances will be June 18, 19 and 20 at 8 p.m. on the Kennedy Theatre main stage.

The musical Carnival opens July 8. Directed by Glenn Cannon, this musical captures the mood of the carnival people perfectly, in a simple, touching, lighthearted way. Comedy is blended with pathos as the French carnival weaves magic around Lilli, the pawn in a fierce rivalry for her affection between Marco the Magnificent, the troupe's magician and Paul Berthulet, a lame puppeteer. Performances are July 8-11, 15-18, and 22-25 at 8 p.m.

The space through which the Earth moves in its annual migration about the sun is often invaded, not by little green men in space ships, but by comets, stray asteroids, and other space debris. A new planetarium show, "Space Invaders," will examine a number of notable examples such as Halley's Comet, the great Tunguska event of 1908, meteor showers, and meteorite craters on Earth and other celestial bodies.

"Space Invaders" will be presented from now to June 27, Monday through Sunday at 3:15 p.m. and Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Call the Bishop Museum Planetarium, 847-3511, for information about our 11 a.m. Polynesian Skies show everyday, Monday through Sunday, and about our admission fees.

WITHIN THE GATES — A demonstration on how to make "Pillow Wash Cloths" will be given June 2, from 9-11 a.m. in Building 455. The demonstration is part of the Armed Services YMCA Outreach's weekly "Women's Awareness Program."

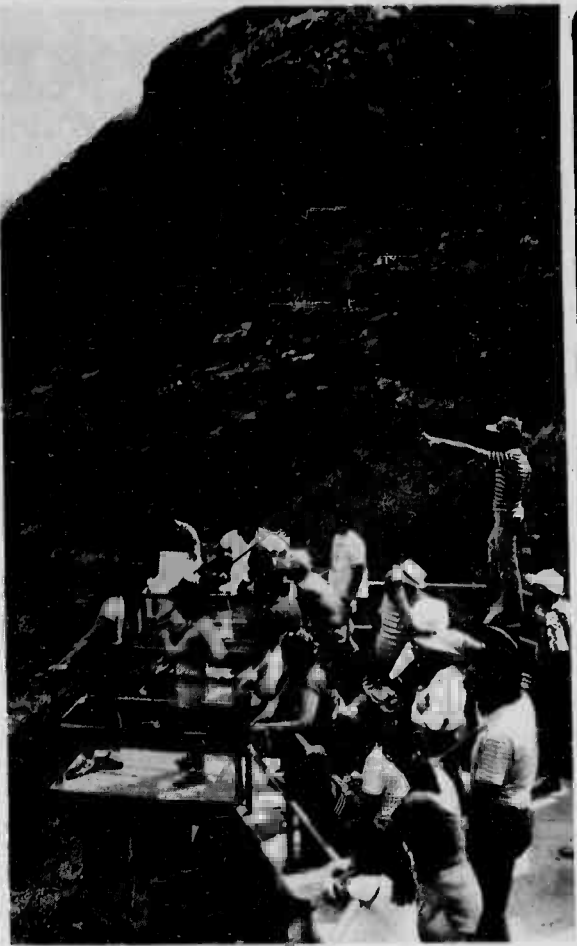

Participants are required to bring two washcloths, one skein of matching yarn, and one darning needle. Admission to the program is $1.

Transportation and child care (50 cents per child) are available. For more information call 254-4719 or 254-5556.

Armed Services YMCA Outreach will sponsor "How To Use More of Your Brain" with Dr. Bob Stone.

Stone, author of 67 self-help books, will make the presentation as part of the weekly "Women's Awareness Program," June 9, from 9-11 a.m.

This free program will be held in Building 455. Transportation and child care (50 cents per child) are available. To make reservations call 254-4719 or 254-5556.

DIAMOND HEAD CLIMB — An easy climb to the summit of Diamond Head is conducted at 2 p.m. every Saturday afternoon through July 17. The hike is free of charge and supervised by members of The Clean Air Team. A volunteer guide who is familiar with the area will accompany the walkers and answer questions along the way to the lookout point where there's a spectacular 360-degree view. To join the Saturday stroll to the top of Diamond, phone 735-6677.

Carrier of the Week

Scott Wright

Scott Wright is this week's Hawaii Marine "Carrier of the Week." Scott is an eighth grader at Kailua Intermediate. Scott has been a SUN PRESS carrier for about eleven months now and is doing a wonderful job!

You may have seen Scott delivering his papers to the residents on Camplon Drive and Elrod Drive. When Scott isn't busy on his route he plays football and soccer. He also likes to listen to music.

Scott says he likes a lot of things about the SUN PRESS, but he mainly likes the money. Scott is saving some of his earnings for a Walkman stereo and some tapes.

If Scott ever wins a trip he'd like to go to Australia and take his friend Melani.

Carrier of the Week receives a FREE Big Mac® from McDonald's.

MCDONALD'S ASTOUNDING HAMBURGER STATISTICS

Enough shakes to wash down 16 billion hamburgers will fill every gas tank in the U.S., and that doesn't even include the countless gallons of soft drinks and coffee consumed at McDonald's.

HAWAII MARINE CIRCULATION POLICY

Each week, the HAWAII MARINE is delivered to all homes and apartments. Your carrier delivers the HAWAII MARINE and will call on you every few weeks.

If delivery service is satisfactory, and you enjoy the HAWAII MARINE, your voluntary payment will be a reward to our young businessman for a job well done. It's an incentive to work hard, and it's a way of letting our circulation department know which boys and girls are giving the best service.

The young carrier pictured above is a local businessman... a HAWAII MARINE carrier. Most likely, this is his first business venture, and it is an important educational experience. As one of his customers, you can make his route a way to genuine personal achievement and growth.

If you have any complaint about your HAWAII MARINE or the delivery service, please call 247-8755.

CARRIER APPLICATION

The HAWAII MARINE has openings for carriers. Responsible HAWAII MARINE workers earn as much as $10 per week for only a few hours work. If you want a business route of your own near your neighborhood, please mail in the application for information.

PARENTS: Help Your Child Read Better—Now!

Learn how a summer program can give your child new success in school. Reading Progress summer study program will teach your son or daughter to read, and to read better.

BACK TO BASICS

We offer no excuses. When we accept your child for instruction, we have accepted the responsibility of teaching him to read better. We get results. The ability to read at full capacity is your youngster's best insurance for success in school. The reading habits your child is developing during these crucial school years will either help or hinder him the rest of his life.

FREE COMPUTER TESTING

Your child is given a computer-scored, diagnostic reading test before enrollment. The computer printout will tell you, and will show us, the exact reading skills your child knows, and the skills he needs to learn. After he is tested, you have a conference with his Reading Progress Counselor. You receive the test results in clear, plain talk—no holding back. If we feel we can help, your child is put in the proper class for complete attention to his individual needs. You will be very pleased by the results. Ask your neighbor, perhaps her youngster is one of the more than two thousand children we have taught in Hawaii private schools.

How to BUY a Car at Auction

Public Auto Auctions-Hawaii's first consumer auto auction
It is easy. And if you follow these simple guidelines you can end up with a good deal.

1. Inspection time is any day 9 am to 9 pm.
2. Inspect the windshield sticker. It lists the year, make, model and all the accessories. It also tells you the suggested retail value. This is taken from Kelley's Blue Book.
3. Once you've decided there is a car you might want, come back on Saturday and register to bid. Here you will be given a numbered paddle.
4. When the car you like comes up for bidding, you raise your paddle at whatever price you are willing to pay.
5. Start your bidding at a price below what you might be willing to pay. That way, you may get a better deal.
6. If the auctioneer ends the bidding on your price, and it meets with the seller's requirement, you've bought yourself a car. Either pay a 10 percent deposit or the total cost of the car.
7. Trained Public Auto Auction specialists will take care of the paper work required, including transfer of title. And can also help arrange financing and insurance.
- What happens if you put up the 10% deposit and later you find out that you cannot get financing? Provided you can bring a letter of refusal by 4 p.m. the Monday following the day of sale, Public Auto Auction will give you your money back.
8. Some cars will carry "limited warranties" by the sellers. That means you can bring your own licensed mechanic back to the lot and have him inspect the car. If he finds something wrong with the Engine Block, Transmission or Rear End, you can get your money back.
Other cars will be sold "as is."
9. Special advice: Decide how much you are willing to pay. Don't get carried away and bid on impulse. You could end up paying too much.
10. Public Auto Auction has arranged for buyers to obtain either 18,000 mile-18 month warranties on cars at very reasonable rates as added protection for your investment. Please inquire.

The following automobiles, along with many others, will be auctioned to the public on behalf of Banks, Lease or Rental companies and the general public:

WE BRING BUYERS AND SELLERS TOGETHER

How to SELL Your Car at Auction

Public Auto Auction's job is to bring buyer and seller together. If you have a car (or truck, van, etc.) you want to sell you can do it quickly and easily.

Here's all you do.

1. Make sure you have a valid safety sticker and current no fault insurance.
2. Bring your vehicle to Public Auto Auctions and register it with us. To do so, you must have valid certificate of ownership. (Your car does not have to be fully paid for to sell it, but cannot be sold for less than is owed.)
3. Clean up your car. It makes a nicer impression.
4. Try to bring your car to the auction lot several days ahead of time. Interested buyers will have a better chance to look it over.
5. To register your car, we require a $10 deposit. If, for some reason, no one buys your car, we keep the $10
as a service fee for trying.
6. KNOW WHAT YOUR CAR IS WORTH? We help you determine that and make sure all the features are noted on the windshield ticket we prepare for your car.
7. When we sell your car, our fee is 10 percent of the sales price.
8. Once your car is sold, we do all the paper work, including transfer of title, etc. We even help the buyer arrange financing and insurance.
