

Dear Soldiers, Family members and friends,

We would like to wish our Soldiers and their loved ones a Happy Labor Day. Since June 28, 1894, the U.S. has officially celebrated this national holiday in honor of the labor movement. Throughout the years, workers across the nation have contributed to significant social and economic achievements; these achievements make our country stronger, increase America's prosperity, and improve our standards of living.

Soldiers of the 335th Signal Command (Theater) (Provisional) continue to honor the importance of this holiday for the well-being of our nation. We are working hard overseas to preserve our nation's security, which at times can be difficult. The high operational tempo and separation from Family and loved ones presents a challenge in maintaining a positive attitude. Yet our Soldiers do just that and continue to show motivation in the workplace to accomplish the mission. The command is extremely proud of its workforce and gladly celebrates this well-deserved holiday.

The United States Department of Labor states that,

"The vital force of labor added materially to the highest standard of living and the greatest production the world has ever known and has brought us closer to the realization of our traditional ideals of economic and political democracy. It is appropriate, therefore, that the nation pay tribute on Labor Day to the creator of so much of the nation's strength, freedom, and leadership — the American worker."

Today we celebrate our workforce... the American Soldier.

Ready Lightning!

Rodney A. Wionowsky
Command Sergeant Major, U.S. Army
Command Sergeant Major

Stephen J. Hager
Brigadier General, U.S. Army
Commanding General

