Search and Rescue medevac a success

FROM NAS KEY WEST PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Naval Air Station Key West's Search and Rescue (SAR) crew evacuated a man experiencing symptoms of a possible heart attack off of the fishing vessel Renee Lynn 63 miles northwest of Key West Aug.9.

The Coast Guard requested assistance from NAS Key West at 10:51 a.m. and the air station's MH-60S Seahawk was in the air at 11 a.m. Once at Renee Lynn, SAR Medical Technician Petty Officer 2nd Class Adam Powers was lowered to the deck, where he completed a medical evaluation and placed the victim in a basket to be raised to the helicopter. The victim was transported to Lower Keys Medical Center, arriving at noon.

"Bravo Zulu to today's SAR crew for their quick and safe response to this emergency situation," said SAR Officer Lt. Cmdr.

Napoleon "Poison" Deveaux. "Any time we can put our life-saving training to use in serving the Keys community, we are honored to step up and help when called."

Sea turtles nest along NAS Key West beaches

BY MC3 ARNESIA MCINTYRE
NAS Key West Public Affairs

Naval Air Station Key West's Natural Resources Manager Matthew Martin recently found five loggerhead turtle hatchlings trapped in a nest beneath the surface of Boca Chica beach.

The hatchlings were transported to the Environmental Division where they were rehabilitated and released into the ocean Thursday.

Loggerhead and green sea turtles are endangered species that visit shorelines along air station property on United Street and Beach Patio as well as Geiger Key Beach.

NAS' Environmental Division consists of eight personnel who work to educate the public and base personnel on the installation's mission to protect, preserve and conserve our nature environment through proper stewardship of natural resources.

The Environmental Division participates each year in the statewide nesting survey, which was initiated in 1979. Nesting season runs from April 15- Oct. 31. During nesting season, the environmental division takes daily walks along the beaches to look for any signs of sea turtle nests or hatchling activity.

"Their numbers across Florida are on the rise and it seems that a generation once hunted out of existence in the Lower Keys may have been finally replaced because of conservation efforts," according to Martin. "We also collect data on sick, injured, or deceased sea turtles (called 'strandings') on behalf of the state."

In September 2013, NAS Key West Public Works Department employees installed turtle-friendly "amber" lighting along the streets near the beaches where turtles nest. Before then, hatchlings would wander toward night lighting instead of the moon shining on the ocean. The amber lighting is programmed to turn on during nesting season, replacing the normal white light. The amber light radiates in a spectrum the turtles won't see but people can.

Martin also urged those in neighboring homes to limit outdoor lighting as it can cause nesting females and/or hatchlings

Original masterpiece

What is the difference between owning an original piece of art or creation verses owning a replica of that piece? To some it doesn't really make much difference but for others the original has the authenticity some people seek.

Last week my nephew and his college roommates came in for a spring break visit and we had a discussion about authenticity. It seems that our current generation of young tries very hard to be authentic but is challenged to put in the hard work or effort to become that original masterpiece. I once read a story about a man who thought he had an original Vincent Van Gogh but the authenticity he sought.

Maybe you are one of those seeking authenticity or looking for authentic relationships. Either way we must remind ourselves that an original masterpiece is not created overnight. Whatever authenticity you are looking for just remember Ephesians 2:10 "For we are God's handiwork, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do."

I hope your time reading this article has encouraged you. Please join us Sundays at 10:30 a.m. at Truman Annex Chapel for worship service with our praise band and children's church. Visit our Facebook page (Truman Chapel) for upcoming events. If you need chaplain care, please call your chaplains at 305-293-2318, Naval Air Station Key West, or 305-292-8788, Coast Guard Sector Key West.

to become disoriented; the turtles' instinct is to follow light - like the moon - to guide them to the sea.

People should not approach, handle, disturb or harass a sea turtle as they are protected by Florida and federal law. Only those trained and with permits can handle sea turtles. Dogs are not permitted on beaches because of their tendency to dig holes.

NAS Key West is unique because it is enclaved within the Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary and is located within two of the four regions of the state designated as an "Area of Critical State Concern" - Key West and Monroe County.

Anyone who observes a sea turtle on shore, alive or dead, should call 305-797-9576. For more information on environmental programs, call 305-293-2911.

High tenure waivers increase

FROM CHIEF OF NAVAL PERSONNEL PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Navy announced increased High Year Tenure (HYT) waiver authority for Active Component Sailors E7-E9 desiring to continue sea duty in the NAVADMIN 192/18, released Aug. 8.

Chief, senior chief, and master chief petty officers willing to continue serving as deckplate leaders at sea are a key element in meeting the Navy's aggressive force-growth trajectory.

Community managers routinely grant HYT waivers to minimize gaps in deployable sea duty billets. Navy leadership encourages HYT waiver requests from senior enlisted leaders willing to fill sea duty deployable and equivalent (Type 2-4) billets that would otherwise be gapped. Implementing this initiative will help maintain the vital leadership and technical experience necessary in manning the Navy the Nation Needs.

Sailors can expect improved retention incentives and leadership opportunities as the Navy continues to grow.

For more information read the NAVADMIN 192/18 at: <https://www.public.navy.mil/bupers-npc/reference/messages/NAVADMIN/NAVADMIN2018.aspx>.
