Supply Support Activity Fights for Readiness

GRAFENWOEHR, Germany -- It's a brisk morning in Hohenfels, Germany. The concertina wire circling the unit maintenance collection point is wet with the morning dew. Last night's fight has the mechanics tired and, although the teams losses were low, every mechanic counts when you're fighting to build combat power. The late night delivery from the distro platoon brought a kicker box filled with parts. They all need to be installed to get these M1 Abrams Tanks and M2 Bradley Fighting Vehicles back in the fight.
