FORT RILEY POST

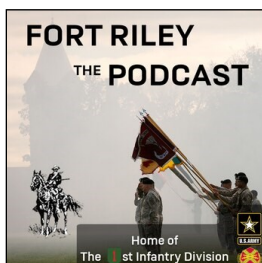

May 19, 2023

Snakes on the Plains

The 22nd annual Fort Riley Herpetological study results are in, and we take a look at how they got the numbers in the ongoing mission to safeguard the installation's biodiversity.

The study found over 25 species of reptiles and amphibians during the day long survey covering a large swath of the installation.

Fort Riley the Podcast

In this week's edition of Fort Riley the Podcast, we talk with the Fort Riley Library program manager for fun opportunities and events for all ages.

Historic Places

This week we visit the Great War Memorial also known as the Funston Monument. The monument sits next to Huebner Road just east of Buffalo Soldier Drive.

This week Doc Jargon explains a multiplier that is dividing a young servicemember from being in the know about the term.

Up and Away

Meet Football One, Fort Riley Fire and Emergency Services' new blue-listed drone.

This drone will allow emergency services personnel to find a lost hunter, hiker or resident as well as assist with allowing a closer vantage point for wildfire observation.
