FORT RILEY THE PODCAST

Fort Riley the Podcast

This episode of Fort Riley the Podcast is about the financial planning advice available without cost to Soldiers, families and Department of the Army civilian employees through Army Community Service.

Historic Places

This week we look at some of the first permanent buildings constructed on Marshall Army Airfield. In 1934, 12 new quarters were built at the airfield. Among them were five company officer quarters. These two-story structures are faced with buff-colored brick to match the hangar constructed in 1932 (Hangar 741) to the south.

Army launches 2024 Tenant Satisfaction Survey

The U.S. Army launched its annual Tenant Satisfaction Survey to collect feedback about the housing experiences of Soldiers and their families.

This year's survey was sent to more than 110,000 tenants in Army privatized, government-owned, and government-leased housing by a neutral third-party
