Fort Riley wins recognition from Secretary of Army for energy, water management for fifth year

The U.S. Army Public Affairs office released the results of the 2023 Secretary of the Army Energy and Water Management Awards March 26. For the fifth consecutive year, the Fort Riley Directorate of Public Works, Utilities and Energy Branch, earned top-level recognition. The award is given to units who provide measurable results in the way they conserve power and water. This year, the Fort Riley team earned the award for a project that installed 184 advanced smart meters and linked them, and existing meters, into the Enterprise Energy Data Reporting System.

Fort Riley the Podcast

This episode brings you news about events happening around the installation, tips for spring weather preparedness and a reminder to complete the Annual Tenant Satisfaction Survey before the May 3 deadline.

Historic Places

Cavalry Parade Field took its familiar shape between 1886 and 1889. Prior to the rectangle we know today, the field was smaller and square. Old barracks were demolished and the field extended east and west with new barracks built on the south side. Bldg 211, Wainwright Hall, was constructed after a fire destroyed the barracks in 1945.

Alcohol, Drug Awareness Carnival held

Fort Riley Army Substance Abuse Program hosted a carnival for all ages to promote Alcohol Awareness Month. If you attended, they want to hear your feedback and ideas to make next year's and other future events even better! If you missed it, you can check out the photos in the FLICKR albums HERE and HERE.
