EMPOWERING CREWMEMBERS

Routine night training nearly ended in disaster when a deer darted directly under a descending Black Hawk's tail rotor. Thanks to a vigilant crew chief's rapid warning, the crew narrowly averted a serious mishap. This close call highlights why aviation organizations must empower every crewmember to speak up about safety hazards. Read how sharing these unspoken near misses builds stronger crews, refines critical skills and ensures every mission ends safely.

DROWSY DRIVING

A grueling shift led one tired Soldier to fall asleep behind the wheel at a traffic light, sparking a profound realization about drowsy driving. Learn how this incident highlights a silent highway threat and the vital tips that can save your life.

BYPASSING CONTROLS

When a staff sergeant bypassed safety controls on a barricaded road, he backed into an unseen vehicle. Discover why physical verification beats operator confidence and how disciplined risk management protects Soldiers during routine operations.

WHAT'S NEW

AUTUMN & WINTER
BE AWARE PREPARE TAKE CARE

With blazing summer temperatures giving way to rapidly dropping mercury, frost and slick roads, the U.S. Army Combat Readiness Center will roll out its annual autumn and winter safety campaign in early October with the theme "Be Aware, Prepare, Take Care!" to help Soldiers, civilians and families manage seasonal risks. Click here to learn more.
